

The nurse is preparing to admit a client who will be placed on seizure precautions. What equipment would be important for the nurse to gather? Select all that apply.

Pads for the bedrails

Oxygen equipment

Suction set-up

Which assessment finding is most associated with myasthenia gravis (MG)?

Muscle weakness that progresses with use

The nurse is providing education to a client newly diagnosed with seizures to recognize a pre-seizure aura. What information should the nurse provide?

A sensory warning that occurs just before seizure activity

Arrange the phases of seizure activity in order, from first to last.

Prodromal

Aura

Ictal

Postictal

The nurse is going to assess a newly admitted client. Upon arrival in the room, the nurse notices that the client's muscles begin to tense and their extremities begin to jerk around violently. Place the steps the nurse should take to provide safety to the seizing client in order of priority, from highest to lowest.

Turn the client to the side and tilt their head forward

Loosen any restrictive clothing/ gown

Observe the time the activity started

Document the seizure activity in the medical records

MaryAnn is being admitted to the medical-surgical unit for pneumonia. What impact on MaryAnn caused by pneumonia should the nurse anticipate?

The pneumonia may make MaryAnn's multiple sclerosis symptoms worse.

The nurse is completing an admission assessment on Jonathan. What is the priority assessment?

Respiratory effort

What is the priority nursing diagnosis for Eliza?

Hopelessness

The nurse receives report on four clients. Which client should the nurse assess first?

A 42-year-old client with myasthenia gravis experiencing difficulty swallowing

What interventions are important for the nurse to include in Jonathan's plan of care? Select that all apply.

Plan for options for meals, such as substituting gelatin for chicken broth.

Schedule physically demanding activities earlier in the day.

In the table, select the correct disease from each drop-down menu (in the first column) to match the description of the disease process (in the second column).

1. multiple sclerosis

2. huntington's disease

3. myasthenia gravis

4. seizure disorder

What are important interventions for the nurse to include when caring for Eliza? Select that all apply.

Provide opportunities to express fears and needs.

Address questions about advanced directives and living wills.